We've done it! The yearbook finally complete and it would not have gotten done without the help of our staff, our advisors Sra. Romero and Sra. Lynch and my fellow editors. Being apart of the WLHS Yearbook Club has definitely taught me responsibility and time management and has been a great experience. Good luck to the junior editors next year!

Nesma Mohamed
Business Manager/Events

As usual its been a tough year especially with a lot of new staff and editors, but I am really proud to say that we all got through it together despite the struggles. Thank you to Sra. Lynch and Sra. Romero for their pateince and guidance. Good luck to all the seniors next year, I'm sure you'll become very successful in life. Thanks to all the staff for being there when needed, and to all yearbook supporters.

Yay! We've made it through a crazy, yet fun year. Without the support of our Advisor's, Staff and Editors we wouldn't have made this yearbook a success. I would like to thank Sra. Lynch and Sra. Romero for your guidance through the 3 years I have been doing yearbook. I would also like to thank the Editors and staff for all your help to make this book amazing! I will miss all the seniors next year!

Good luck in the real world <3

Yearbook has taught me responsibility, creativity, and most importantly, time management. In one seemingly short year, we all came together to get the book done. I thank all the editors and our advisors, Sra. Lynch and Sra. Romero for a fabulous year, through thick and thin. Junior editors- good luck next year; work hard, and most importantly have fun!

I'm glad to say we've finally pulled through! Yearbok has not only taught me how much responsibility really means, but also that there are always people around to help no matter how big that responsibility may seem. I thank you Sra. Lynch, Sra. Romero, editors, and staff for all your help throughtout this year!

Underclassman/ Clubs

Yearbook has definitely been a memorable experience. Creating this yearbook has taken a lot of hard work and early mornings, but hopefully you will agree that it was all worth it. Thanks to everyone who helped make this book a success and best of luck next year to all of the yearbook staff.

- Jamie

A special thanks to

Faculty & Staff

Thank you for all your help! We would not have been able to create the book without you.

We appreciate the help with pages and ads.

Advisors

Thank you both for a great year. We wouldn't have been able to run the club without you both!

It's has been a long road to completing this yearbook, it had its ups and downs. But I am so thankful for everyone who pitched in to make this yearbook great. We couldn't have done it without the help of Sra. Romero and Sra. Lynch. You two really helped not only me, but everyone grow as human beings. Thank you so much. Good luck next year Junior editors, it is a lot of hard work, but the end result is always worth the effort.

The Class of 2013 dedicates the yearbook to...

Mrs. Sandra Briggs

The senior class has dedicated the 2013 yearbook to Mrs. Briggs. She is loved by many students here, especially the senior class. Her classes are unforgettable and each one special. Mrs. Briggs brings her humor and love of teaching into every single class and lesson. Her passion for not only English but also for teaching is truly inspiring. We will never forget all of the wonderful memories we have had with her. She talks to every student as if she's known them for years and strives to see her students succeed. Her personal touch and love for the subject is why she is the recipient of this dedication. Thank you Mrs. Briggs for everything you have done for us and keep inspiring the upcoming students.

English 1, English 2
AP Language

Dear Members of the Class of 2013,

"Home," writes Maya Angelou, is "the safe place where we can go as we are and not be questioned."

You may remember reading Angelou's words in ninth grade English. There is truth in what she says. She believes that our families and those individuals who are part of our extended families accept us as we are. They love us. I agree. But I would add that they also question us and allow us to consider whether our choices are the right ones, which in turn allows us to make more thoughtful decisions.

This is your home: Windsor Locks community, your neighborhood, your school. This is your time: your moment to glance back over your shoulders as you charge ahead, to remain for just a while longer with your family, friends, neighbors, and teachers, who have been part of your lives.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity for one last word with you, for allowing me to represent all those teachers and educators who have walked with you along the way. For you—for us as well—the past four years have swept by. It seems as if it were only a few months ago that we were traveling that long journey with Odysseus, who wanted so desperately to go home, and just a few weeks ago that we were running with Scout to greet Atticus at the end of the day. Your footprints have left their marks in the halls of Windsor Locks High School, where you have studied and played; made new friends, parted from old; bounced, thrown, and kicked the ball; danced and swum and sung; built, performed, and painted; edited, photographed, and organized. In leaving, pausing as you walk past Henry's bench, you take with you the richness of friendship skills, knowledge, understanding, and anticipation that will remain in your hearts and minds forever. You take the strength of character and body and mind that you have built over these years of your childhood. As for those of us who stay behind, we will remember you and the many ways in which you have been part of our lives, for the ways in which you have helped us to become better people and teachers.

And now, please open your notebooks, write today's date, take this note:

You can always come home, where you will be accepted and questioned, lovingly, of course.

-Mrs. Briggs

Henry Dang

09/02/95 - 10/30/10

A time comes in everyone's lives when they are first forced to recognize the fragility of life, and must, unfortunately and whether ready or not, grow up. For the class of 2013 and many others, that moment was October 30, 2010. On that day we lost a friend, a companion, a brother, and a truly unique human being that can never be replaced. Henry Dang was a fixture in our community; kind to everyone he met, never too serious, always managing to bring out the best in people. He remains a fixture now in our memories, and serves as an example to all of us as what a person should be. Those of us who were lucky enough to know him will never forget the joy and optimism that followed Henry wherever he went. Others will always remember the effect he had on our school and student body, bringing us closer even when he could not be here himself. We will never forget the lessons Henry taught us just by being himself; to be the best person you can be regardless of any hardships that stand in your way. While we strive to move forward, we will never forget the boy who told us to always "do the right thing, when you get the chance". Rest easy Henry, we love you.

"I believe that life is a prize, but to live doesn't mean you're alive." -Nicki Minaj

I finally made it. Senior year. First, I would like to thank my parents & my brother Alan, for helping me take the right path. I know I was a pain, but it's all part of being a teenager. I also would like to thank those who have been there for me either at one point or another: Cara, Ariell, Manoor, Matt, Sabena & Raymond <3 Shoutout to Ms. Jones. I'm a miss you. #CLASSOF2013

"Until you make peace with who you are, you'll never be content with what you have." -Doris Mortman

It's been a long four years at WLHS but we did it! I could not believe it ended so fast. Well, I guess I will give my thanks to my friends like Kris, Brandon T., Jay, and the class of 2013! I would also give my thanks to my family and teachers for supporting me. R.I.P. HD you will never be forgotten. As for the class of 2013, GOOD LUCK and May God bless all. We did it!

To the Graduating Class of 2013

I always have such mixed emotions at graduation time, happiness and pride in all of the group and individual accomplishments that the students have achieved in their time at WLHS along with genuine sadness that they are leaving and will be so missed by all of us here.

The class of 2013 has pulled together in times of sorrow and celebrated their victories as a united group. I have no doubt that each of you will move on to pursue your passion and will achieve successes beyond your wildest imaginations. Please know that each of you leave with my best wishes for an amazing future where you make as strong and positive an impact on the world as you have in the WLHS community.

You got this!!

Christopher Mark Toce

Chris, we are so very proud of you. You have accomplished so much through High School and your future is full of opportunities. While not always an easy road, you stayed strong and focused. Being active and your love for soccer has helped shape you into the awesome person you are today.

As a son and brother you are a class act! We love that you always follow your individual beliefs. That individuality and your wonderful heart will help make all of your dreams come true. We will always be here, supporting and cheering you on. Remember to never regret mistakes, learn from them, they make you stronger.

Dear Jessica,

I have watched you grow from an adorable baby girl to a beautiful young woman who has made me a very proud grandmother. I wish you much happiness, love and all the success I know you will achieve. I know you will continue to use good judgment in all you do in life as you've proven yourself thus far. Remember that no mountain is too high for you to climb to achieve all of your goals. I know you wish PopPop was here for your graduation, but know that he's with you, Jess, and he's extremely proud of you. You have been our shining star and will continue to be always.

Love you,

Melissa,

We couldn't be more proud of all you have accomplished and the beautiful young lady you have become. Your compassion and empathy for others is to be admired and will take you far towards achieving your goals and dreams. We have enjoyed so many wonderful evenings of watching you perform with Vocal Motion, Jazz Band, Marching Band and the plays. Remember your high school days fondly and embrace all that the future has in store for you. Most of all, stay true to yourself and be happy. We love you so much!!!!

Class of 2013

from your
Aunts, Uncles and Cousins

Things about you, Jess. Since your first day of preschool and all the way up, you loved school and wanted to have perfect attendance. In elementary school, you received an honorable mention and awards of recognition for writing, musical excellence, physical fitness and sports. At 9, you made your AAU team when you were only in the 4th grade. At 14, you were faced with some choices and used good judgment in your decision to stay on the right path. I watched you as you made every basketball practice a year round priority. It's no wonder you received MVP, top rebounding and outstanding player awards. In high school, you've been recognized for your hard work and willingness to take on challenges and succeed. You went over and above that which was required for community service and completed it freshman year although you had four years to do it. You've received scholar athlete awards freshman, sophomore, and junior years and I have no doubt in my mind you received it senior year too. You've worked hard on the court which made you a key player for your teams. You never bragged. You didn't have to. I bragged. I had every right to. At 15, you took on the responsibility of working. Also, few knew that at this age and in only four months' time, you suffered three major losses and one, in particular, who played a major role in your life. At 16, you not only got your driver's license, but a job interview and the job ALL ON THE SAME DAY!

Don't forget about all your achievements as you'll accomplish many more. Challenge yourself and strive to do your best always. Your dedication will take you far. Take pride in all you do as you have in the classroom, on the court and on the job. Set high standards for yourself and achieve your goals. Keep a busy schedule. Have compassion and be good to others. Be a good friend. All these things will bring you much happiness and success in life.

Here's what I know Pop Pop would impart to you, his Jessica Ann:

Do for others out of the goodness of your heart without expecting anything in return; Use your integrity when making decisions; Have morals; Don't cheat, lie or steal "Oh what a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to deceive"; Reading makes you smarter; Have a love of learning and teach others what you know; When driving, read your signs and you'll never get lost; Get a good education; Get a good job and have a strong work ethic; Take pride in what you do; Be dignified; Be positive and optimistic; Be independent; Figure things out yourself; Have strong opinions on issues you're passionate about; It's okay to be outnumbered so long as in your heart you feel that you are right; Talk about politics! Be a mentor so you can guide your loved ones; Be patient, attentive and listen to others so that you may better understand them; Be determined; Have will power; Don't dwell or worry about those things which haven't happened; Be respectful; Support the decisions of your loved ones and protect those who are dear to you; Be strong; Conquer the hardships you can and for those to which there's no resolve, leave in the hands of God; Accept the things you can't change, change the things you can and know the difference between the two; Practice, practice and more practice makes perfect; Never say "I can't". Try your hardest and you can do anything; Gee Whiz! Take your time and pay attention; Be a perfectionist; Be a perfect example and role model of a human being. ♪♪ Oo Ee Oo Ah Ah Ting Tang Walla Walla Bing Bang ♪♪ Oo Ee Oo Ah Ah Ting Tang Walla Walla Bing Bang ♪♪

We've made a good team, Jess. You're my favorite teammate. I'm your biggest fan and you've made me very proud of you. I'm the luckiest mom in the world. You know you're my pride and joy and I'm looking forward to the next chapter of your life. I love you very much.

Seniors Say

Goodbye,

As we take this step into the future we have so long waited for, we must let go of yesterday and turn to face tomorrow. We must remember the obstacles we've faced, and use them to inspire ourselves and one another to conquer the difficulties we will most definitely come across as we truly enter adulthood. We must never forget the experiences we've been lucky enough to have. We must never take for granted the struggles that have made us so much stronger. We must always remember the lessons we've learned through the frustrations, the laughs, the tears. We must remember what we've seen and felt, and know that we deserve the feeling of pride and accomplishment we now have. But most of all, we must never forget what we have learned here. We must use it to shape a future we can be proud of.

Goodbye

As the school year draws to a close, we find ourselves saying goodbye to a year of growth, challenges, and memories. It's a bittersweet moment, filled with nostalgia and a sense of accomplishment. We look back on the journey we've taken, from the first day of classes to the final exams, and realize how much we've learned and grown. The friendships we've formed, the struggles we've overcome, and the triumphs we've celebrated are all part of this unique experience. As we bid adieu to this chapter, we carry with us the wisdom and resilience gained along the way. The future may be uncertain, but we know we are ready to face whatever comes our way. Goodbye, dear school, and hello to the adventures ahead.
